Join us for an uplifting evening celebrating cultural unity, honoring the strength, courage and perseverance of six DACA recipients who are fulfilling their dreams of becoming healers and giving back to their communities, and recognizing the educator whose passion for social justice opened the door of opportunity for them.

HONORING

The First Class of DACA-Recipient Graduates of Loyola Stritch Medical School

These six young men and women each have their own story of challenges they have faced as children of immigrants, born in other countries, but only knowing Illinois, Texas and California, Tennessee and Colorado as their homes; having an uncertain future, but following their dreams nonetheless. While they were born elsewhere, they all share the same love for this country and the commitment to make a difference in their communities.

Mark G. Kuczewski, PhD
PROFESSOR OF MEDICAL ETHICS, CHAIR OF THE DEPARTMENT OF MEDICAL EDUCATION, LOYOLA UNIVERSITY CHICAGO STRITCH SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

Mark G. Kuczewski, PhD, is the Professor of Medical Ethics and Chair of the Department of Medical Education at the Loyola University Chicago Stritch School of Medicine. His interest in the role of culture and spirituality in decision making led him to study the bioethical issues related to the recent wave of immigration. He has been an articulate spokesperson for the just and equitable treatment of immigrant patients. He also led the effort to revise the admissions policy of the Stritch School of Medicine to welcome applications from qualified DACA recipients. Due to the strength of his conviction, Stritch became the first medical school in the nation to openly welcome these applicants. For his work on behalf of immigrants, Mark has received numerous awards, and was named the Loyola University Chicago 2017 Faculty Member of the Year.
